EBERO PIPE SYSTEMS AND HAUFF-TECHNIK EXHIBITING AT THE UTILITY WEEK LIVE 2019 AT THE NEC IN BIRMINGHAM

Utility Week Live is the UK's leading utilities industry exhibition. In the past two years Hauff-Technik was present with its own stand. This year we decided to support our partner EBERO at their stand. The relationship between the two companies has strengthened and grown since we first met at the Utility Week Live in 2018. We now work together since January and EBERO has become one of our major distribution channels in the UK.

„The Utility Week Live is one of the most important exhibitions for both enterprises as we share the same target group. With our products for utilities and civil engineering the exhibition gives us the chance to meet important customers from water and power supply.“ says Steve Gayton, who represents Hauff-Technik in the UK and supports EBERO at their stand.

Philipp Schweneker, EBERO managing director, reiterated: „We are happy that our partner Hauff-Technik receives our customers together with us and we are looking forward to the cooperation in UK. Through this cooperation we expect further synergies in technical sales, market development as well as product development.“

EBERO is so convinced of the show that they already booked a larger stand for next year.

Next to innovative solutions Hauff-Technik introduced the brand new BWS wall sleeve.
